Community Participation in Public Health: What’s the Added Value in Research and Implementation?

Since the early 1970s, participatory approaches involving community members have been used in the public health sector as a strategy to improve the quality of health services as well as their accessibility. The Swiss TPH Spring Symposium 2015 invites health sector specialists, NGOs, academia and government representatives to reflect on the question of the value of community participatory approaches in public health from both, research and implementation perspectives.

We look forward to welcoming you in Basel!

Pre-registration is required. For more information and to register visit: www.swisstph.ch/news-events/symposia/spring-2015.html