

Information Evening on MBA and Short Courses in International Health Management

The Education and Training Department of the Swiss TPH is pleased to announce an information evening for its MBA and Short Courses in International Health Management.

Are you a working professional that seeks to acquire and deepen personal skills in international health together with management and administration?

The MBA in International Health Management combines best practice with the latest research in global health to prepare participants for careers as decision makers in international health settings.

Meet the coordinators to find out how the MBA and our Short Courses in International Health Management fit your personal and professional needs. Learn more about programme content, its different courses and structure, our students, and the benefits to working professionals.

Not in Basel? No problem - join the session online!

Next session:

10 September 2019 at 18:00

Matterhorn seminar room, Swiss TPH, 55 Socinstrasse

To register, contact courses@swisstph.ch with the subject, "MBA Info".

Looking forward to seeing you at the info evening!